Newcastle Central Mosque (NCM) is one of North-East England's largest masājid. The masjid is upon the Qur'an & Sunnah based on the understanding of the Salaf.

The timings of the daily prayers are based on what is visible to the naked eye. It is not necessary to burden yourself by rigidly adhering to timetables built solely on astronomical calculations. The Sunnah encourages ease, and timetables such as this one should be used only as helpful approximations.

Prayer times were defined in an authentic ḥadīth of the Prophet (ﷺ), narrated by 'Abd Allāh ibn 'Abbās (رضي الله عنه):

The Prophet (ﷺ) said: "Jibrīl led me in Ṣalāh twice at the House. So he prayed Ḍuhr the first day when the shadow was similar to the length of the strap of a sandal (just after midday). Then he prayed 'Aṣr when an object was similar to the length of its shadow. Then he prayed Maḡrib when the sun had set and the fasting person breaks the fast. Then he prayed 'Ishā when the twilight had vanished. Then he prayed Fajr when the true dawn began (before sunrise), and when eating is prohibited for the fasting person. The second occasion he prayed Ḍuhr when the shadow of everything was similar to the length of it, which was the time of 'Aṣr the day before. He prayed 'Aṣr when the shadow of an object was about twice as long as it. Then he prayed Maḡrib at the same time as he did the first time. Then he prayed 'Ishā, the later one, when a third of the night had gone. Then he prayed Fajr when the land glowed (before sunrise). Then Jibrīl turned towards me and said: "O Muhammad! These are the times of the Prophets before you, and the time is what is between these two times (for each prayer)."

Sunan al-Tirmidhī 149

Prayer start times (aḍān) in this timetable are also used by the following masājid:

If you want your ṣalāh to benefit you, say (to yourself):
perhaps I will never pray another (my life will end before the next prayer).

Bakr b. 'Abdillāh Al-Muzanī (رضي الله عنه)

The Messenger of Allah did not fast in any month of the year more than he did in Sha'bān. He used to fast all of Sha'bān.
